Yakustk, a remote city in Eastern Siberia along the Lena River, is the coldest city in the world. No other places in the world has the extreme temperature found here: in winter, the temperatures regularly fall to minus 40⁰ (the coldest temperature recorded was - 64⁰) and in summer it often reaches temperature above 30⁰C. In winter, after a few minutes outside, your nose fills with ice. The most dangerous time is the spring- when the ice falls, it can kill people. The winter is very boring because people can't go out much. Although the weather is extreme in Yakustk, it has population of 27.000, or a quarter of the entire population of Siberia. Margaret Mitchell wrote only one novel, Gone with the wind. It was published in 1936 and proved to be such a huge success that Mitchell's life was altered greatly. She lost all her privacy and regretted this fact very much until her death in 1940. The novel, which has been translated into 28 languages, and has sold more copies than any other book except for the Bible, won the Pulitzer Prize in 1937. Not long afterward, the movie based on her novel was produced by David O. Selznick in 1939. This movie holds the records of having been viewed more times than any other movie produced. Through out her life,

Mitchell denied that her main characters, Scarlet and Rhett, or any other characters were biographical in any way. She did have access to family correspondence dating from the 1850s to the 1880s, the time of the American Civil War. It seems natural that a woman with Margaret Mitchell's vivid imagination and historical awareness, and in possession of a collection of family correspondence that documents such an unstable society as that of a civil war, could create a story that is still very attractive to audience.

(adapted from Cambridge preparation test for TOEFL 1998)

A. the family letters B. her birth
C. the first printing of the novel D. her death

A. ranks the second about the number of copies sold.
B. ranks first about the number of copies sold.

A. 1939 B. in 1850
C. during the time of American Civil War D. in 1880
